PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

SHABBAT! VISIT PEOPLE NOT WEBSITES

very idea of a day of rest. The hectic pace of our daily lives makes a day of rest a seemingly impossible dream.

It is my strong belief that Shabbat is needed now more than any time in the past. How many times a day do you check your e-mail? How fast are you expected to respond? It seems that the more time we spend in front of our computers, tablets and cell phones the more we lose the ability to connect with each other. I was recently at a restaurant and seated next to me was a family of four; two parents and two children under 10. There were 4 electronic devices in use and the only conversation that took place was with the waitress.

Rabbi Green reminds us that Shabbat does not belong to the strictly observant Orthodox community, it is an inheritance that belongs to all of us. He asks us to ponder what a contemporary Shabbat observance should look like and offers the following suggestions:

- 1. Stay at home. Spend quality time with family and real friends.
- 2. Celebrate with others: at the table, in the synagogue, with friends.
- 3. Study or read something that will edify, challenge, or make you grow.
- 4. Be alone. Take some time for yourself.
- 5. Mark the beginning and end of this sacred time by lighting candles and making Kiddush on Friday night and saying Havdalah on Saturday night.

At Temple Beth El we want to encourage everyone to enjoy the gift of Shabbat. Invite a few friends over for Shabbat dinner. If you feel uncomfortable with the rituals, contact Rabbi Bitran, Hazzan Leubitz or myself and we will be happy to help you. Watch for details for our Havdalah and Dinner with Friends program which we are planning for early February. We will be meeting for Havdalah and appetizers at Temple Beth El and then going to congregant's homes for dinner. Let's spend an evening visiting with our Temple Beth El friends, NOT WEBSITES.

Wishing everyone a happy and healthy New Year.

B'Shalom, Dan Glowinsky President TBEPrez@tberochester.org

FROM THE DESK OF THE SENIOR RABBI

The Jewish Tradition has articulated certain terms that have an enduring place in Jewish consciousness. The term "mensch" for example or "menschlichkeit," which means, literally, "person" or "human being." I think it would be especially helpful if this word is taught to our children and grandchildren.

Mensch means "an ideal human being," a person who has cultivated a character of sensitivity, care and compassion. Our society can produce the best doctors, lawyers, the most astute business executives, the most talented professionals and the most capable specialists. But without having a "mensch" in our society we are deprived of enduring and meaningful success in the act of living.

Our Jewish tradition offers a commentary on the meaning and implication of being a "mensch."

When a person failed to perform the basic acts demanded by an elemental sense of decency, this was a source of shock and consternation. What happened to his/her menschlichkeit -what happened to his/her humanity?

Our people knew the reality of human imperfection. Even the best of us is frail and weak and we often transgress and make mistakes. We do not expect perfection of any person, even of one who becomes a real mentsch. But each of us must enter the fray to try to become a mensch. How do we teach menschlichkeit? How do we acquire it? How do we transmit it? The answer lies with the observance, practice and discipline of Judaism.

Ours is a society where everything is in a state of constant flux. There are no more absolutes, certainties, no permanent values, neither enduring relationships. We find ourselves in a state of spiritual chaos. Too many of our best and brightest lose their way. But we have a tradition that is 4,000 years old. We have a profound insight and great wisdom embodied in the values taught and preserved by our heroes and heroines in our great literature. The values enable a human being to live a meaningful life.

These values have one goal: To try to make a mensch out of each of us. Because, if you are a mensch, our tradition says, you can be relied upon under all circumstances. You can be a mensch for all seasons. If you are a student, you will resist the pressure of others who want you to take drugs, to use sex as a substitute for love. If you are a mensch, and you have a profession, your concert for your client or your patient will supersede your concern for your own self-advantage. If you are a mensch, and you are in business, your concern for integrity will not be compromised by your desire for profits. If you are a mensch, and there is a crisis, you will be the person who can be counted upon to help others, as well as yourself.

To be a mensch means to give, and to draw satisfaction and to find joy in giving. God gave each of us a treasure - a precious gift - a Neshama - a soul and we can find it by linking it to the world out there that has to be redeemed. There is something specific and particular that every one of us can do, something we can do with our very being, with our care, with our intelligence, with our unique spirit.

Each of us is on the path to becoming a mensch. Try to be the kind of person who will be respected and loved not because of power, fame, success or fortune, but because you personify the qualities of menschlichkeit -because you are fair, generous, caring and compassionate under all circumstances. To be a mensch is a challenge issued to each of us. Let us be strengthened and encouraged as we meet that challenge and thereby bring great blessing to the world and to ourselves.

B'Shalom,

Rabbi Leonardo A. Bitran

NOTES FROM OUR HAZZAN...

In case you don't know, our weekly "L'Chayim" sessions have returned. We meet on Shabbat mornings from 8:45 until 9:15 in the Beit Café.

Our course of study and reflection centers on prayer and spirituality. Often we participate in a spirited exchange!

As an example of some of the text we read together and then discuss, allow me to share this segment, taken from the book,

Davening...A Guide to Meaningful Jewish Prayer by Rabbi Zalman Schachter-Shalomi:

INTRODUCTION

"If you have ever tasted an apple plucked right off a New England tree, you will know the difference between a supermarket apple and a real apple. A supermarket apple has been washed, waxed, refrigerated. Vital parts of its chemistry have ebbed away. But an apple plucked from the mother tree? A mechayeh. Tastes like a living apple.

Prayer is the same. Many who live their lives as Jews, even many who pray every day, live on a wrapped and refrigerated version of prayer. We go to synagogue dutifully enough. We rise when we should rise, sit when we should sit. We read and sing along with the cantor and answer 'Amen' in all the right places. We may even rattle through the prayers with ease. We sacrifice vitality for shelf-life, and the neshomeh, the Jewish soul, can taste the difference.

True prayer is a bursting forth of the soul to G-d. What can be more natural and more human than turning to G-d's listening presence with our thanks and our burdens? Prayer is one of the simplest and easiest of practices. It's always right there. The act of speaking directly to G-d, of opening our hearts to G-d's response, is one of the ultimate mystical experiences. Like great art and great music, prayer brings out the poetry of soul. Some of our most beautiful writings can be found in the pages of prayer.

Without true prayer, on the other hand, a very deep yearning that we have goes unanswered. We try to satisfy that hunger for G-d in other ways. We mistake the yearnings of soul for the cravings of body. We feed them with food and drink, drugs and sex, money and power, but these things just inflame our appetites further. We might seek higher things, intellectual pursuit or artistic accomplishments. Even these do not touch us in that loneliest of places, the place that longs to be filled with G-d. That's why prayer, to me, is not a luxury but a necessity, a safe guard for our survival and our sanity.

I hope that you will consider joining us! It is our custom to end each session by making a "L'Chayim" and partaking of some "sweets". B'Shalom, Among my favorite memories from high school is attending USY conventions. I especially loved going to Kallahs at other synagogues. It was fun to be in other synagogues, be taken care of by the community and to stay in the homes of my USY friends and other people from the hosting congregations. The feeling of belonging to the Jewish community that I experienced during USY conventions did so much to strengthen my Jewish identity.

Temple Beth EL has the privilege of hosting this year's USY Sprinter Kallah the weekend of January 30 to February 1. 80 to 100 teens from around the Tzfaon region, which includes all of Upstate and Western New York as well as parts of Western Massachusetts and Vermont, will be spending the weekend with us. They will spend all of Shabbat in our synagogue, be housed in our community for Saturday night, eat delicious meals all weekend, engage in fantastic Jewish learning and praying, strengthen their Jewish identity and make lasting friendships.

Jewish tradition places a high value of fulfilling the mitzvah of haknasat orchaim, welcoming guests. I invite you to become one of the volunteers who welcomes the USYers and helps to make an amazing experience for the teens from around the Tzfaon region. Please consider hosting a group of teens on Saturday night in your home (even if you don't have teens yourself!) or being one of the many volunteers we need to help with cooking and serving meals. Even if you aren't able to help by hosting or with the meals, I hope you'll make a point to come to TBE for Shabbat that weekend so you can welcome the teens and see the great things that they are doing. I look forward to coming together as a community to make sure that the USYers have a fantastic experience while in Rochester.

TBE Youth Education and Programs Made Possible by Temple Beth El Foundation

Providing Jewish education for our children is one of the most critical elements of any synagogue. From Pre-school through 12th grade, we strive to create in our children a thirst for lifelong Jewish education, a balance of Torah learning, T'fillah and acts of loving-kindness.

The Religious School is the Congregation's single largest expense. In order to keep the Religious School within the budgets of young families with children the Congregation simply cannot charge in tuition the actual per child cost of the Religious School. Therefore there is no other place for it to fall other than the entire congregation to help those of us with young families who need to have a place of quality education and programing. It is the absolute policy of Congregation Temple Beth El, as it should be, for any program, geared to any age group, that no member be denied any of the advantages which Congregation Temple Beth El can provide. It is also our policy, as it should be, to constantly work to improve the quality of all programing for all congregants. The Temple Beth El Foundation recognizes that fact. Its mission is to do all it can to help bridge the gap for the parents of school aged children within our congregation.

The Temple Beth El Foundation was created twelve years ago. The Foundation's mission and sole purpose is to provide funds to help cover the cost of educating and to provide financing for programing for Temple Beth El's children. For more than a decade the Foundation has been making annual grants to Temple Beth El to help reduce the deficit incurred by the Religious School. Over the years the Foundation has donated more than $700,000 towards youth education and programs. These funds have been used to help cover the expense of running the Religious School, providing special High Holy Day youth services, B'nai Mitzvah programs, youth group activities, special events and much more.

The Temple Beth El Foundation is a separately incorporated 501c3 not for profit organization whose funds are held and managed separately. Chaired by Jay Birnbaum, the Foundation's trustees are currently Beryl Nusbaum, Paul Schiffman and Howard Konar. The Foundation's by laws also call for 2 trustees to be appointed by the president of Temple Beth El. Currently Caroline Korn and Phil Weintraub serve as the TBE appointees to the Foundation board.

The TBE Foundation makes a grant each year based on a request submitted by the Temple Beth El president. The amount donated is 5.5% of the three year rolling average of the Foundation's corpus. Foundation funds are administered by the Jewish Federation of Greater Rochester and follow the Federation's investment governance, administration, oversight, and spending guidelines.

In celebration of Temple Beth El's Centennial, which will occur in the fall of 2016, the Foundation is raising funds to increase the size of its corpus. This will result in a larger annual donation to Temple Beth El which will allow us to re-imagine how we educate and engage our children in Jewish life.

Centennial Campaign Chairs Jay Birnbaum and Sara Flaum Ressler have set a goal of raising $3.6 million. They are excited to announce that nearly half this amount has already been raised from a handful of very generous donors.

For more information about the Temple Beth El Foundation or to make a donation to the Centennial Campaign contact Debbie Zeger at 585-473-1770 or dzeger@tberochester.org.

Highlights of the Minutes of the Board Meeting on November 10, 2014

What's the Big Idea?: Is there more significance to Hanukkah than what we already know? Did the story of the Maccabees really happen? YES! Actually, the sister city of Rochester, Modiin-Dan introduced a book called "A Different Light" which is by the same author as the one who wrote a well-known hagadah. The book is meaningful because it explores many different themes that are thoughtful and inspiring.

Finance Committee Report: Dan highlighted an item about Keshet. Deficit issues due to fewer children registered than expected. Exploring ideas with Randi, including more marketing and promoting Keshet.

Membership Report: Two new members, Brian Lustick and Leslie Johnson. 1 resignation and 1 deceased.

Needs Assessment Committee Update: Lisa Maas-Vangellow & Debi Brenner are co-chairs, members include Marty Spokony, Jodi Dietz, Len Stein, Merle Marcus and Jack Finkelstein. The focus is on what kind of professional and in what areas, by priority, could benefit from additional funding. Program director? Second rabbi? Marketing professional? The point is what does TBE need, how much is needed, etc. Review of the direction and substance of the committee presented. Interviews with the staff and clergy, and ultimately focus groups from the Board and congregation will ensue.

Centennial Celebration Planning: A year-long celebration at TBE. Many suggestions were presented for events to take place throughout the year. Dan is looking for volunteers to plan programs.

President's Report: Regarding the collaboration, the workshop with Rabbi Feldstein meeting was meaningful. Board members discussed aspects of this meeting. Discussed how change is processed. Overall if this community is going to move forward in any collaborative fashion, we need to come together and understand each other. For example we can all work together to support our Jewish Day School. Another take away, is the concept of trust. A lot of the discussion is centered on trust and how to build trust among synagogues. Dan made an appeal for ushers for Shabbat. So important to greet people as they come in. Dan is encouraging board members to be ushers.

Good & Welfare: Hanukkah Party is December 17th. Andy Feldman's wedding in Arizona last weekend, Mazel Tov to Dave and Bobbi. Jeff Steven's daughter, Sophie, is Bat Mitzvah this weekend. Mazel tov to her.
