PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

It is both an honor and a privilege to begin my term as President of Temple Beth El. I am also equally as pleased to have the opportunity to introduce two new members of our Senior Staff, Hazzan Randall Levin and Jody Dietz, Limmud Religious School Director. Hazzan Levin comes to TBE with more than six years of experience as a lead Cantor and almost a decade of work in the Jewish community. He is a graduate of the University of Akron School of Music, the Cincinnati College-Conservatory of Music, and the H. L. Miller Cantorial School of the Jewish Theological Seminary. Randall, his wife, Emily, and their two boys, Henry and Michael are a welcome addition to our TBE family and the Rochester community.

Jody assumes the role of Limmud Religious School Director with a long history of Jewish leadership and participation. She spent six months in Israel working and studying on Kibbutz Ein HaMifratz during college, served as the Executive Director of the New Jersey Region of HaShachar Young Judea for two years, and was a madricha for three American Zionist Youth Foundation Israel Summer programs. Jody earned her graduate degree in Industrial and Labor Relations from Cornell University. She previously worked for the Eastman Kodak Company and Hillside Family of Agencies where she held a variety of roles in Human Resources with a focus on Organizational Development and Learning. Jody also co-chaired our TBE Human Resources committee. I am excited for Jody to join the TBE leadership team and to help evolve our religious school program.

Religious Schools have long been a topic of discussion as synagogues continue to struggle with attendance and delivering meaningful, engaging content to our children. Responses to the struggle and critiques have varied over time, but the root cause of the challenge – our challenge – is one of unclear and conflicting expectations. For families, is religious school merely a place for children to associate with other Jews? Is it solely for training and preparation for B'nai Mitzvah – that milestone representing an end to Jewish education when instead it should be a springboard? Is it a mandatory “must do” part of being Jewish? For educators, is the goal to develop Jewish identity or discover ways to enjoy being Jewish? Is it to motivate children to continue their Jewish education during high school, college, and beyond? Is it to learn Hebrew, Torah, or Jewish history?

Religious school is only one element of a full Jewish education experience. It is our combined responsibility as a congregation to offer all our members a variety of learning experiences from preschool/early childhood to adolescent and family programming, adult education to camps and retreats. Fostering opportunities that enable our congregants of all ages to encounter the richness of Jewish traditions, and to instill in themselves strong Jewish identities, commitments, and practices, is an important and worthy endeavor. We will undoubtedly find success in our combined efforts, commitment to each other, and in support of our TBE staff, educators, and clergy.

I grew up at TBE – I am a product of attending religious school here and completing Midrasha. My Bar Mitzvah was here, I was married here, rejoiced in the naming and brit milah of children here and recently celebrated my daughter's Bat Mitzvah here. Serving as President of this organization represents another chapter for me here and I am thankful for the opportunity.

I believe the future remains bright at TBE. Get involved – help us reach our highest potential.

L'Shalom – enjoy the summer!
Marty Spokony

FROM THE DESK OF THE SENIOR RABBI

It is with a full heart and pure excitement that I extend Hazzan Randall Levin, Emily and their children, Henry and Michael, greetings and well wishes as we welcome them all for a most successful tenure at Temple Beth El.

Temple Beth El strives to be a welcoming, inclusive, nurturing home for anyone interested in fostering relationships, learning our ancient history along with new modern rituals, and finding deep and enriching spiritual moments.

I sincerely hope that at Temple you and your children will find your community. It is in our religious services, Limmud Religious School, Torah Study opportunities, along with multiple life cycle events and holiday celebrations that we find our connections with one another and ultimately with God.

I am sure Hazzan Randall will add a new dimension to our services, High Holy Day worship, and community life and look forward to launching into this new chapter in our congregation's history together.

I look forward to working together, strengthening our team of professionals, and sharing our path to holiness and fulfillment.

Hazzan Levin, Emily, Henry and Michael, welcome to your new home, welcome to Beth El.

Rabbi Leonardo Bitran

NOTES FROM OUR HAZZAN...

One of the unexpected highlights of my graduate training at the Cincinnati College-Conservatory of Music was the study of sonata form. As a young voice major, far more versed in Paul Simon's Graceland than I was in Mozart's 30th Symphony, I was, to say the least, not always overjoyed with my coursework in "Graduate Theory and Analysis." But in studying Charles Rosen's seminal work on the subject of sonata form, I found it fascinating that the emotions one feels when listening to music could actually be understood, and given greater meaning, through studying the large-scale musical forms. When I went on to study at the Jewish Theological Seminary, this approach would greatly enhance my ability to understand the Jewish liturgy as connected spiritual system, rather than merely a random collection of unrelated prayers.

I won't get into every detail of sonata form in this small space, but the basic premise is that the music starts out as a presentation of two competing musical ideas, or themes, in two different keys. In between the first theme and the second theme is a transition (what is called a bridge in pop music) that connects the two themes, and the two different keys. Next, there is a second section, called the development, where the ideas are, more or less, broken apart into their smaller component parts, and then repackaged in various ways. This is often a chaotic process, in which there is considerable tension, and also one in which some interesting possibilities are put forth. The last part of the sonata form is what's called the recapitulation—a new presentation of the original themes in their entirety. In this second presentation, however, the two themes appear not in two different keys (as they did the first time) but in the same key.

Notably, in between the two themes the second time around is a second transition, different from the first one, of course, since we are now imagining these two themes not in opposition to one other, but existing in the same dimension. The "job," then, of the second transition is to facilitate a reality in which two apparently different ideas are hovering alongside one another as if they were meant to be heard together all along. This creates a very satisfying moment for the listener. In achieving this moment, it certainly helps if the composer has written two memorable, compelling themes. But what makes it all really "work," is actually not the themes themselves, but the transitions, and how they effectively bridge the gap between one idea and another, ultimately determining whether we hear the two themes as being in two different keys or in the same key. This is where the real work and skill of a gifted composer becomes evident.

As summer fast approaches and I shift my attention from one pulpit to another, I can't help but notice the connections between this musical form and the process of integrating new religious leadership into a community. While I am most certainly energized by the challenges of this opportunity, I am also humbled by the task. For as an ancient Midrash declares, "Kol hatchalot kashot: All beginnings are hard." Change, no matter how exciting and full of possibility, is not easy.

Before long, our thoughts will turn to the High Holidays, which will serve in some ways, as a microcosm of this transition. Together, we will engage in a process of rediscovering what was, deciding what is to remain, and imagining what will be. Like the Israelites traveling through the wilderness, our transition may at times have moments of uncertainty and insecurity, of starts and stops, of complaints for needs not met, and demands to return to the old. Some will be reticent about moving forward. Others will want to move forward too fast.

The wilderness, though, can be a time of great creativity and of new voices being heard. What I can assure you, as I most humbly enter your community, is that your voices will indeed be heard. There will likely be moments when it seems like we are singing in different keys. You may be used to one model of what a Hazzan is and does, and my model may be different. What might have worked well in my previous congregations might not work well here. It takes time for a Hazzan to get to know a congregation and to become a true shaliach tzibbur. But I will hear you. Over time, I will become better attuned to your style and expectations, while you will get to know me and, hopefully, appreciate the gifts that I bring.

I am most certainly looking forward to getting to know you all, and to hearing your voices, both as individuals, and as a group. Temple Beth El is a gem – a truly special, and most welcoming, community. Emily, Henry, Michael and I are delighted to now call Rochester our home, and to be a part of both the tradition and a dynamic future at Temple Beth El. Finally, I would be remiss if I did not mention how honored I am to be following in the footsteps of such extraordinary Hazzanim as Sam Rosenbaum and Martin Leubitz. I pray that, along with Rabbi Bitran, I will be able to serve each and every one of you in your own relationship with God, and the Jewish people, and in helping to continue the work of making Temple Beth El a place of learning, inspiration, transformation, connection, acceptance, and joy.

YOUTH EDUCATION CORNER

I am honored and privileged to have been selected as the new Limmud Religious School Director and I look forward to building on the rich history, deep tradition and commitment to educational excellence that have been the hallmark of Temple Beth El's religious school for decades. I have had the opportunity to meet quite a few parents during my tenure as the Interim Director and appreciate the feedback and creative ideas that have been shared. Parents interested in meeting with me, I welcome your calls, emails or visits if you wish to chat.

I am working very closely with the Education Committee to plan for the new school year. Together we are looking at the goals, structure and curriculum of Limmud. What follows is a sneak preview of what will be coming this fall. In September our teen program will no longer be called Koolanu. There will be just one religious school at Temple Beth El called Limmud for grades K-12. Work is underway to create a new curriculum for our teens that is meaningful, engaging and educational. We know that many of our teens enjoy opportunity to volunteer in the younger classrooms. We are currently developing a Madrich/a In Training (M.I.T.) Program for these teens. Applications for this exciting program along with information about required training will be available shortly.

It is very quiet in the hallways of Limmud this summer and we are missing the smiles, laughter and ruach that our students share during the school year. While your children are enjoying some much needed relaxation, family vacations, time with friends and camp, we are busy preparing for the fall. Be sure to mark your calendars as our first day of classes will be on Wednesday September 12. We will celebrate the start of the school year with a school-wide picnic following Limmud on Sunday, September 16th. If you have not yet registered your child(ren) for the fall you can access the registration form online.

Temple Beth El remains committed to educational excellence and we are actively recruiting and hiring exceptional madrichim (leaders/teachers) to join our Limmud staff. There will surely be familiar faces in the halls of Limmud when school resumes along with some new ones. Professional development for our staff will be an area of focus throughout the school year as we work collaboratively to continuously build our shared knowledge and skills. We will participate in both community-wide training for Jewish educators, as well as offer Limmud specific ongoing learning programs.

A school is only as good as the partnerships that are established across staff, parents and students. Thus, improved communication with parents and greater opportunities for family engagement will be a priority in the coming school year. Specifically, we will host a Meet the Teacher Night in October, identify a room parent for each class, offer parent-teacher conferences and schedule class specific family programs and services throughout the academic year. Stay tuned for more details.

Learning the Hebrew language is a cornerstone of Limmud and we will be putting a greater emphasis on Hebrew instruction and differentiation this year. In September students will be assessed for their Hebrew reading, writing and comprehension and will receive appropriate differentiated instruction. This will provide opportunities for us to challenge our students who have higher than grade level Hebrew capability and to better support those who need extra help.

We are looking forward to Hazzan Levin's arrival in July and hope that you will join us in welcoming him and his family at the outdoor Friday Night Service and barbecue dinner on Friday, July 13th and/or at Shabbat services on Saturday July 14th. As we look ahead to August we invite you and your family to join us for S'more's and Havdallah outside. I hope to see you at services this summer. In the meantime, whether you are travelling far or enjoying a staycation in Rochester, I wish you and your family a wonderful summer.

B'Shalom,
Jody Dietz

EARLY CHILDHOOD UPDATE

Our last few months of Keshet finished on a strong note! Our children spoiled their moms and dads during Donuts with Daddy and Mother's Day Tea, and we had a spectacular send-off for our end of the year party! Special thanks goes to Laura Pullem and Sara Metz for co-chairing the end of year party themed "School's Out- an Undersea Extravaganza!". We wish our students graduating the best of luck in kindergarten.

Camp is underway, at record breaking numbers, and so is Watermelon Wednesday! Our Watermelon Wednesday for the last week included a special tribute to Hazzan Leubitz, as we wish him farewell on his retirement! We are looking forward to Biffy Borg, the fire department, Shira Presberg from Song Leader Boot Camp, and some other exciting guests coming our way!

Our camp themes include some old favorites including the ever-so-popular "Let's Get Cooking!" and "Messy Art" as well as some new ones including "We're Going to the Zoo". The Seneca Park Zoomobile will be joining us for a live animal interaction! Spaces are limited, but there is still room to register!

We are looking to start a new group for families with children who are under the age of 18 months. Come socialize with other parents of infants, have a light snack, and have some play time! Our first baby play group will be on Thursday, July 12 at 10:30 am in the muscle room. Please see me with any questions or any families that might be interested!

Our enrollment for the school year is booming! We have enough two-year olds for two classes, and are looking forward to opening up a second room! There will be some great improvements in store!

Finally, Tot Shabbat Summer edition is on August 10 at 5:30 followed by a dairy potluck dinner. Weather permitting, we will have an outdoor service!

Please do not hesitate to contact me with any questions! We have a lot of exciting programs and offerings for the youngest members of Temple Beth El.

TBE Sisterhood BEREAVEMENT QUILT

In the last edition of the KOL, there was a beautiful picture, taken by Jessie Atkin, displayed of the bereavement quilt designed and created by a Sisterhood group in the course of the last year. We extend grateful appreciation to the women skilled in needle arts who contributed to this effort: Janice Greenberg, Tova Moonay, Ester Tobochnik, Esther Smalline, Martha Supnik, Athene Goldstein, Judy Schulman, and Dvora Kolko. We especially appreciate the inspiration of Peggy Blumenthal, who brought this project to us and has been the sponsor of this effort.

The quilt offers a third option for families who have lost a loved one: the traditional pall, an American Flag for a veteran, and the bereavement quilt.

Book Club

WEDNESDAY, SEPT 26 | 7:30 PM

Thank You...

To all the members who donated feminine hygiene products, you made our Pad Party a great success during the conference.

The Conference Was Great!

THE INR (INTERNATIONAL NORTHEAST REGION) annual conference was hosted by the TBE Sisterhood at the close of April 2018. With the help of strong coordinating committees focused on food and program a time for learning and reflection was enjoyed by all.

Conference offers an opportunity for participants to improve their leadership skills and gain exposure to Educational and Community Service programs they may wish to use as models for their own programs. The opportunity to worship together and to engage in Torah Study with Rabbi Bitran enriched our experience. The pleasure of having time to visit with folks we do not see often is the heart of Conference for many.

Two highly rated programs were "TBE grown:" The Rosh Hodesh Group and the PAD Project (which our TBE Sisterhood does in concert with National Council of Jewish Women and to which our congregation as a whole contributed). Kudos were offered throughout the conference for the exemplary food, gluten free options for all those needing them and the general "deliciousness" of all the gustatory delights presented.

Sisterhood extends thanks to the Office and Facilities staff for helping us to set up rooms and for keeping everything on track and in good working order as our conference was held.. These are the folks who support us and help in every way.

Thank you to the Beth El congregation for welcoming us to this beautiful building. It was the "buzz" in the background especially as people visited the Sanctuary.

from one generation
to the next... for our future.

For over 100 years Temple Beth El has been an integral part of the Rochester Jewish community. To ensure that the life of the temple continues to flourish the L'Dor V'Dor Giving Society has been established to recognize donors who provide for the future of the congregation through a planned gift.

Temple Beth El's L'Dor V'Dor society works in partnership with the Life and Legacy program, of the Harold Grinspoon Foundation and the Foundation of the Jewish Federation of Rochester.

To learn more about making a planned gift or to join the L'Dor V'Dor society please contact Debbie Zeger at dzeger@tberochester.org or visit our website.

The Temple Beth El Remembrance Book is an opportunity to honor the memory of loved ones in an annual publication that is used at the High Holy Days and every holiday at which the Yizkor prayer is recited. The Yizkor prayers are also in this publication.
